DEDICATION

To one who has dealt with us patiently and lovingly during our years of schooling, who has left a great imprint upon our lives by instilling her high ideals, and who has given us more than can be acquired from mere books, we dedicate the 1951 Treasure Chest.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The blessings we enjoy at Haughton school have been made possible through the combined efforts of school administration, faculty and student body. We have a never-ending faith in youth and believe in the ultimate goodness of humanity--children in particular. Though we are forced to be strict at times, our actions are in the interest of justice and order and our endeavor is to further these ends regardless of cost.

In the years to come we hope that the growth, development and greatness of Haughton school will stand as a beacon you will all be proud to claim as your own.

SENIOR WILL

We, the Haughton High School Seniors of 1951 do hereby make our last will and testament. We make it with the hope that these things we leave will be as useful and give you as much pleasure as they have given to us.

Max Allen: "My ability to letter in football I leave to Lynn Tooke with the advice that you can't play football with your arm in a sling."

Sonny Duschel: "To Ray McAnn I will three quarters of my love for Paula. It is so valuable I can't part with all of it."

Ross Sutherlin wants Coach Robertson to have his ability to sing because Coach seems so interested in Choir. He leaves his graceful flexibility to Huey Butcher so he can do the Washboard Shuffle.

Randall King thinks Rex Matlock takes life too seriously and therefore wills to him his girl winning smile.

Jesse Lee "Paul Bunyan Leaper" Nall leaves his ability to play leap frog to Carroll Hughes, his ability to swing from trees to Jimmy Lee and his ever powerful Tarzan muscles to Meek "Lowly" Livingston.

James Alvin Barlow leaves his perfect attendance medal to Johnnie Garland. He says, "What is the purpose of school if not to study?"

"I, Harold Porter, will myself to "ole" Haughton High. As the saying of General MacArthur goes, 'I shall return!' "

"Toad" Horton, after fifteen years at Haughton leaves (and it's time). His great height goes to Charles Anderson.

Margaret Anne Lawrence leaves her musical talent to Chloe Nattin and her ability to strut to gorgeous Frances Raines.

Vera Collins informs us that her witty remarks go to Mary Elizabeth Crow. She also leaves her right to the telephone at noon and study hall periods to Mary Lindy.

"I, Doll Munn, leave part of my mop of hair to Mr. Moreland to cover that bald spot that's peeking through. All my vim, vigor and vitality I leave to June Nall so she can be an even better basketball player."

To Josephine Morgan I, Carolynn Mahaffey, leave my beautiful, lusterous, easily managed, ever curly hair. I leave my ability to get to English class late every day to Frances Raines. She needs a break.

Wayne Gregory wills his nickname and smiling face to Marvin Albritton, his ingenious brain to Billy Joe Maxey, his hooky-playing ability to Charlie Johnson and his curly hair to David Hollis. Not many people have so much to give, but Wayne is generous.

"Bo" Keith leaves his ability to hustle in a basketball game to Bobby Welch. A hustler always wins, he says.

Hallie Burge wills her ability to "get engaged" to Paula Haynes. Look out, boys!

Alice Rose Cryer wills her feet to June Nall. She thinks that they will help her to get around quickly on the basketball court.

Ray Dickerson can sleep peacefully during fifth period and wants Paula Haynes to have her secret as to how it's done.

Vera Collins thinks Buster Lusby would like to possess her skill in typing and gives it to him with regret.

Dollie French wills her love for tennis and her bubble gum to Johnny Garland. These will make your Senior year happy, Johnny.

Angie Baker thinks she heard Fayrene Disotell say she wanted some of her quiet dignity. This she gladly gives her.

Leslie Kilgo wants Huey Butcher to have that "stubborn determination" of his. Use it especially when you play football, he says.

Dewey Morgan leaves his nickname "Peg" to his sister, Josephine, so he can be sure it is kept in the family.

A constitution was started last year and finished this year. Coach Robertson is the sponsor this year and we hope the student council will continue to grow and become a very active organization here with much support from students and faculty.
